Poetry.

God's World is worthy better Men.

BY GERALD MASSEY.

Behold I an idle tale they tell,
And who shall blame their telling it?
The tongues have got their cant to sell,
The world pays well for selling it!
They say the world's a desert drear—
Still plagued with Egypt's blindness;
That we were sent to suffer here—
What! by a God kindness?
That since the world has gone astray,
It must be so for ever,
And we should stand still and obey
Its Desolators. Never!
We'll labor for the better time,
With all our might of Press and Pen;
Believe me, 'tis a truth sublime,
God's world is worthy better men.

With Paradise the world began,
A world of love and gladness;
Its beauty may be marred by man
With all its crime and madness.
Yet 'tis a brave world still. Love brings
A sunshine for the dreary;
With all our strife, sweet rest hath wings
To fold o'er hearts that's weary.
The sun in glory, like a God,
To-day climbs up heaven's bosom,
The flower upon the jewell'd sod
In sweet love-lessons blossoms,
As radient of immortal youth
And beauty, as in Eden; then
Believe me, 'tis a noble truth,
God's world is worthy better men,

Oh! they are bold, knaves ever-bold,
Who say we are doom'd to angel-ly
That men in God's own image sould
Like bell-bound slaves must languish,
Probe Nature's heart to its red core,
There's more of good than evil;
And man—down-trampled man—is more
Of Angel than of Devil,
Prepare to die! Prepare to live!
We know not what is living!
And let us for the world's good give,
As God is ever giving,
Give Action, Thought, Love, Wealth, and Time,
To win the primal age again,
Believe me, 'tis a truth sublime,
God's world is worthy better men.

The Runaway Match; or Overshooting the Mark.

BY FRED HUNTER.

A great many years since when bright-eyed and fair-haired lasses were not so plenty in New England as they now are; there dwelt in the town of P———, a pretty village, distant, then, some five-and-twenty miles from 'Market-town,' a peculiarly ugly and cross grained but wealthy old father.

Minnie was old Danforth's child; and report said truly that she would be his sole legatee. The old man was a sturdy farmer, and was estimated to be worth full ten thousand dollars; at that period, a very handsome fortune, to be sure.

The sparkling eyes and winning manners of Minnie Danforth had stirred up the finer feelings of the whole male portion of the village, and her suitors were numerous; but her father was particular, and none succeeded in making headway with him or her.

In the meantime, Minnie had a true and loyal lover in secret! Who'd have supposed for one moment that such a fellow would dare to look upon beauty and comparative refinement! His name was Walker, or as he was generally called 'Joe'—Joe Walker; and he was simply a farmer, employed by old Danforth, who had entrusted Joe with the management of his place for two or three years.

But a very excellent farmer, and a right good manager, was this plain, unassuming but good-looking Joe Walker. He was young, too, only twenty-three; and he actually fell in love with the beautiful, pleasant, joyous Minnie Danforth, his old employer's only daughter. But the strangest part of the occurrence was that Minnie returned his love earnestly, truly and frankly; and promised to wed him at a favorably opportunity.

Things went on merrily for a time, but old Danforth discovered certain glances and attentions between them, which excited his envy and suspicions. Very soon afterwards, Joe learned the old man's mind, indirectly, in regard to his future disposal of Minnie's hand, and he quickly saw that his case was a hopeless one, unless he resorted to stratagem; and so he set his wits at once to work.

By agreement an apparently settled coldness and distance was observed by the lovers towards each other for five or six months; and the father saw, (as he believed,) with satisfaction, that his previous suspicions and fears had all been premature. Then by agreement also between them, Joe absented himself from the house at evenings; and night after night for full three months longer, did Joe disappear as soon as his work was finished, to return home only at late bed-time. This was unusual, and old Danforth determined to know the cause of it.

Joe frankly confessed that he was in love with a man's daughter, who resided less than three miles distant; but after a faithful attachment between them for several months, the old man had utterly refused to entertain his application for the young girl's hand.

This was capital. Just what old Danforth most desired. This satisfied him that he had made a mistake in regard to his own child; and he would help Joe to get married and thus stop all further suspicions or troubles at home. So he said:

'Well Joe is she a buxom lass?'

'Yes—yes,' said Joe. 'That is, other folks say so. I'm not much of a judge myself.'

'And you like her?'

'Yes, sir, yes.'

'Then marry her,' said Danforth.

'But I can't—the father objects—'

'Pooh!' continued Danforth, 'let him do so; what need you care? Run away with her.'

'Elope?'

'Yes! Off with you at once! If the gal will join—all right. Marry her, bring her here; you will have the little cottage at the foot of the lane; I'll furnish it for you; your wages shall be increased; and the old man may like it or not, as he will!'

'But—'

'Put me no buts, Joe. Do as I bid you; go about it at once; and—'

'You will stand by me?'

'Yes, to the last. I know you, Joe.—You are a good fellow, and a good workman, and will make anybody a good son or husband.'

'The old fellow will be so mad, though.'

'Who cares, I say? Go on quickly, but quietly.'

'To-morrow night, then,' said Joe.

'Yes,' said Danforth.

'I'll hire Colver's horse—'

'No you shan't.'

'No!'

'I say no. Take my horse—the best one, young Morgan; he'll take you off in fine style, in the new phæton.'

'Exactly.'

'And as soon as you're spliced, come right back here, and a jolley time we'll have of it at the old house.'

'Her father will kill me!'

'Bah! He's an old fool, whoever he is; he don't know your good qualities, Joe, as well as I do. Don't be afraid; faint heart, you know, never won a fair woman.'

'The old man will be astounded.'

'Never, mind, go on. We'll turn the laugh on him. I'll take care of you and your wife, at any rate.

'I'll do it,' said Joe.

'You shall said Danforth; and they parted in the best of spirits.

An hour after dark, on the following evening, Joe made his appearance, decked in a nice new black suit, and really looking very comely. The old man bustled out to the barn with him, helped him to harness young 'Morgan' to his new phæton; and leading the spunkey animal himself into the road, away went happy Joe Walker in search of his bride.

A few rods distant from the house, he found her, as per previous arrangement; and repairing to the next village, the parson very quickly made them one in holy wedlock. Joe took his bride, and soon dashed back to the town of P———, and halted at old Danforth's house; who was already looking for him, and received him with open arms.

'Is it done,' cried the old man.

'Yes, yes,' answered Joe.

'Bring her in, bring her in,' continued the old fellow, in high glee; never mind compliments; no matter about the dark entry; here, here Joe, to the right, in the best parlor; we'll have a time, sure!' and the anxious farmer rushed away for lights, returned almost immediately.

'Here's the certificate, sir,' said Joe.

'Yes, yes—'

'And this is my wife,' he added, as he passed up his beautiful bride, the bewitching and lovely Minnie Danforth!

'What!' roared the old file; 'what did you say, Joe—you villian, you scamp, you audacious cheat, you—you—you—'

'It is truth, sir, we are lawfully married. You advised me to this course, you assisted me, you planned the whole affair, you lent me your horse, you thought me, last evening, worthy of any man's child, you encouraged me, you promised to stand by me, you offered me the cottage at the foot of the lane, you—'

'I didn't; I deny it; and you can't prove it; you're a—'

'Calmly, now, sir,' continued Joe. 'And the entreaties of the happy couple were at once united to quell the old man's ire, and to persuade him to acknowledge the union.

The father relented at last. It was a job of his own manufacture, and say how useless it would be to, finally, attempt to destroy it.

He gave in reluctantly; and the fair Minnie Danforth was overjoyed to be duly acknowledged as Mrs. Joe Walker.

The marriage proved a joyful one, and the original assertion of old Danforth proved truthful in every respect. The cunning lover was a good son and a faithful husband, and lived many years to enjoy the happiness which followed upon his run-away match; while the old man never cared to hear much about the details of the elopement, for he saw how completely he had overshot the mark!

Alexander Dumas.

There is a certain noted author, whose pen is worth a Californian placer, so prolific is it, whose extravagance would exhaust the Pactolus if it flowed through his house. Now this literary Hercules was early one morning visited by a hussar and two assistants, who avowed their purpose of seeing him safely to prison, on account of a certain debt, they being in fact only deputies of the guard de commerce. He attempted to discuss, to negotiate, to entreat—but all to no purpose; the officer was polite and inexorable, and the orders were formal, the writ regularly issued; 1200 francs must be forthcoming or the door of the prison Cellly would close upon him. How was he to extricate himself?

'You will at least go with me to my bookseller?' said the author, perceiving a ray of hope.

'Certainly, Monsieur, anywhere, you please, I am at your service until sunset.'

The whole entered a coach, were speedily conveyed to the bookseller's where the doctor alighted, and, accompanied by his free satellites, made known his object, which was to procure an advance of 1200 francs on his forthcoming work!

'Sorry to refuse, my dear Dumas, but the fact is, you know our express agreement, not one cent in advance. In exchange for your manuscripts, I will go up to any amount at the rate of forty francs per page of writing; otherwise nothing.'

'Take me home again,' said the prisoner addressing his guard.

'And what shall I do with my writ?'

'Don't be alarmed, take me back to my house.'

Again they entered the coach; and in a few minutes are at the authors residence.

'Leave your bailiffs in the passage, and come into my library,' said he to the officer. It was done. 'Now take a comfortable seat on the sofa, here are cigars, rum, all my books, five hundred volumes. I admit none but my own works. Smoke drink and read.'

'Until sunset, monsieur!'

'Yes, no longer time is necessary.' So saying, Dumas threw off his coat and commenced writing furiously.

'What are you about to do, Monsieur, asked the other.

'Dont disturb me I am coining money.'

A quarter of an hour elapsed. Dumas rang the bell, his valet answered it. 'Take this to the publisher, he will give you forty francs for it.'

He was obeyed; fifteen minutes after there was another ring; the groom appeared and was similarly commissioned. Each succeeding quarter of an hour a leaf was dispatched—messengers were in demand; they formed a chain between the author and the publisher. In a short time the crowds began to arrive, the copy and the money passed each other continually in the street, and the piles of each growing larger. At least, after seven hours and a half of intense labour, the battle was gained, and the debt discharged, while the sun was yet fifteen minutes high.

The hussar immediately sounded a retreat, much astonished at what he had seen, and somewhat so at what he had drunk. It was only then that Dumas was conscious of having taken no sustenance since the evening before; seating himself at a table with as much spirit as if he had just been taking a refreshing nap, he exclaimed,

'I have not wasted my day,—Gazette Francaises

Arrival of the Africa.

NEW YORK, August 21st, 1856.

The Cunard steamship "Africa," Captain Stone, arrived at half-past five yesterday afternoon. She left Liverpool at half-past 1, on Saturday the 9th inst.

The news politically is not important.

It is said in the London Chronicle, that the Hon. Robert Lowe, Vice-President of the Board of Trade, visits the United States semi-officially, and that his mission is connected with the Central American Question.

The Assemble National of August 7th, in an article on the Central American difficulties between England and the United States, gives as its opinion, that the latter ought to be satisfied, if the stipulations presented by Mr. Dallas are accepted. The United States, says the Assemble, have nothing more to demand for the present. They could not even go further, without imposing upon themselves for the future a task for which they are not sufficiently prepared. We think also, that England has acted well in acceeding to them, although the sacrifices are evidently on her side.

The difficulties between the Allies and Russia in the settlement of the details of the treaty of Paris, are probably at an end.

All quiet in Spain.

THE CROPS OF EUROPE.—From G. Bousbuch's circular, August 8th:—The weather this week has been as favorable as the Agriculturist could desire for maturing the ripening crops and work in the more forward districts. The splendid dry growing weather for the last eight days, has considerably promoted maturity. As far as the character of the present harvest in the United Kingdom can be ascertained, it would appear that the crop of wheat may reach a full average produce.

Potatoes have been extensively planted. Some complaints are prevalent of the appearance of disease, but the bulk of the crops sound and promising abundantly. The result of this year's harvest still depends upon the weather during the next eight weeks. The magnificent harvest weather last week continues; the yield promises abundant, while, the quality is fully equal to that of any preceding year since 1851. Along with this state of things in our own lands, we have accounts equally promising Continental Europe, and nearly all the grain producing countries in the world; under these circumstances low prices are naturally expected in the present year.

The tightness of the money market continues and the applications both at the Bank of England and the discount houses of Lombard Street for accommodation, have been exceedingly numerous. Rates are without change, although the supply of capital appears to have become more restricted.

Perilous Adventure at the Suspension Bridge.

From the Rochester Union.

As usual on Sunday, a large number of persons were congregated at the Bridge—men, women and children—some engaged in walking across the bridge, others in viewing the structure from the banks, &c. On the west bank of the river a number of boys were amusing themselves by pulling upon guys, giving them an oscillatory motion. The guys were some ninety feet in length, and attached to the bridge directly over the chasm, and several feet from each other. They were fastened together in an iron staple, inserted in the rock at the very brink of the precipice. One of the boys, a lad of about 12 or 14 years of age, whose name we have not been able to ascertain, in order to show his daring, seated himself astraddle the guys, when suddenly the guys swung out over the river with the boy seated in the crotch, holding on with a hand grasped upon each guy!

The distance from the bridge to the water is two hundred and forty feet, and the position of the boy was about midway between! The accident was witnessed by a large number of persons, and so thunderstruck were they that many of them, both, upon the bridge and the banks, threw themselves upon their faces, and it was some time before any one could regain sufficient presence of mind to set about rescuing the lad from his perilous position. The youngster, however, exhibited a nerve worthy of an older head, and seemed to greatly enjoy his swing. After the vibration of the wires had ceased, he commenced giving directions to those above him on the bridge as to the best method of affording him relief. A search of the neighborhood showed that no rope suitable to draw him up could be had. The youngster then suggested the plan of making a rope sufficiently long to let him down, by piecing. This was done. The rope was let down to him, and, after he had fastened it to his waist, those above lowered him to the water's edge! He gained the land, and scampered off for the lower landing as fast as his legs could carry him, and, our informant says, has not been seen since in the vicinity of the Suspension Bridge.

Insolvent Debtors Act.

Attention is drawn to the Act, which we copy below. It has but recently made its appearance, and what's most singular, it was not heard of until very lately.—What were the Toronto journals about, that they did not herald its introduction to the people?

CHAP. 93, 19 & 20 VICTORIA.

An Act to extend the provisions of the Insolvent Debtor's Act of Upper Canada, and and for the relief of certain class of persons therein mentioned.

Whereas there are many persons who, having been Traders in Upper Canada, within the meaning of the Bankrupt Act, (passed in the seventh year of the reign of Her Majesty, chapter ten,) either before or since the expiration thereof, have been unable to avail themselve of its benefits; and whereas these persons, from having been Traders, are precluded from the benefit of the Insolvent Debtor's Act, (passed in the eighth year of the reign of Her Majesty, chapter forty-eight;) and where as it is expedient to relieve such persons on their making a full surrender of their property for the benefit of their creditors; therefore Her Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of Canada, enacts as follows:—

1. All such Traders coming within the description above in the preamble to this Act set forth, shall be entitled to avail themselves of the benefit of the Act of this Province, passed in the eighth year of the reign of Her Majesty, and intitled, "An Act for the relief of Insolvent Debtors in Upper Canada, and for other purposes therein mentioned," on their taking the steps and proceedings therein set forth for obtaining their discharge.

2. As to such persons, the order called the Final Order in the said last mentioned Act shall in addition to its effect as set forth in the fourth section of the said Act, operate as a discharge of all debts or liabilities, due or contracted up to the time of the presentment of the petition under the first section of the said Act, in each case respectively, as fully and completely, and to the same extent, as if such Trader had obtained a certificate under the fifty-ninth section of the said Act relating to Bankrupts.

3. Provided always, that this Act shall apply only to Upper Canada.

DISTRICT OF BURLINGTON.—Mr. John O. Hatt has presented himself as a candidate for Burlington; he is a strong conservative, though, judging from his address, not a supporter of the present Government. We are happy to observe that the choice of Reformers appears to have fallen on that well-tried friend of the people, Dr. Harmanus Smith, and we have no doubt that he will be returned by a decided majority. The ministry have not dared to show their faces in this districts, although Mr. Spence misrepresents one of its counties.—Globe.

COOL.—The master of the house, at a fashionable party the other night, asked a gent to give a young miss who was dress a la Eugenie before the birth of Napoleon III. —his arm to the dining room. After closely observing the enormous spread, he replied, "Well, I'll offer her my arm, but I'll be whipped if I see how she's going to get hold of it."

We have no data from which to estimate our loss in Canada, but even at a guess we may set it down this year at two or three millions,

The Wheat Fly—Midge.

(From the Canadian Agriculturist. August.)

We regret to find that this destructive insect is greatly extending it ravages in Upper Canada. In the Lake districts, or that part of the country bordering the Lakes and Niagara River, its ravages appear to have been most severe. It is much to be regretted that none of our agricultural organizations, from the Bureau of Agriculture down to the Township Societies, appear to think the subject of insect depredation worthy of their notice. At least we are not aware that any systematic plan for observing the numbers, orders or families, habits, and modes of propagation, territorial extent, destructive powers, parasites, &c., &c. of those insects that prey upon the farmer's crops, or for discovering the remedies that have been or may be employed to prevent their ravages, has yet been suggested or adopted by our Agricultural boards of Societies. As a journalist we are left entirely to our own limited observation, to imperfect newspaper accounts, and the occasional remark of a correspondent who has found the "weevil," or "grub," or "worm," or "little yellow maggot," in his wheat; and wants to know where it came from or how it can be got rid of. The subject is still further involved in doubt by the contradictory statements of wheat speculators—one party declaring that the "fly" has done immense injury, and the other, that it's all a bugbear to keep up prices."

What could more properly engage the attention of our Bureau and Boards of Agriculture than to collect and disseminate authentic information on a subject like this? The N. Y. State Agricultural Society, aided by a grant from the Legislature, have employed a distinguished entomologist, (A. Fitch M D.) to examine and report upon the noxious beneficial and other insects of the State. The results of that examination will no doubt benefit us as well as our neighbours, but there are facts peculiar to Canada that ought to be ascertained and made known. We trust a hint will be sufficient, and that next season systematic and extended observations will be made under the proper authority.

We have, in previous volumns of the Agriculturist, explained the habits and appearance of the wheat midge, and also of the weevil. There is still, however, much confusion among writers and correspondents in regard to names and this is another reason for such an examination of the subject as we have hinted at. The insect generally spoken of at present as preying upon the wheat in the ear, is the midge or wheat gnat (Cecidomyia Tritici.) It is found in the kernels of wheat in its chrysalis or pupa state, the eggs having been deposited by the parent fly upon the ears while the grain was yet soft or milky. There is a very wide distinction between this insect and the weevil, (Curculio granaria) The former is of the dipterous, the latter of the coleopterous order. The true weevil preys upon the grain after it is harvested, and when stored in mills, &c. The larva of the midge is most destructive while the grain is yet soft in the ear. Indeed, it is said that it cannot eat through the skin of the ripened grain, and therefore is not to be dreaded in the granary.

REMEDIES.

To the wheat-grower, the most interesting part of the subject is how to prevent the depredations of this insect. We believe no perfect remedy has yet been discovered, but so far as we can gather from the experiments and observation of others, as well as our own, we recommend early sowing and early varieties. We made a tolerably close inspection of our own fields this season, in which both the Hessian fly and midge were found, and the result confirmed the wisdom of the above advice. In a field of blue stem, sowed 12th Sept, on a warm clay loam, summer fallowed and manured, we found the midge in about every fifth ear, and from one to three kernels affected. In a field of red chaff, sown a fortnight later, and after a crop of peas, on good soil, not manured, four out of every five heads were affected, and from two to six grains in each. A strip of this field was blue stem, sown at the same time as the red chaff, and was less affected than the latter, though there was no perceptible difference in the time of ripening.

Fall ploughing wheat stubble has been recommended, and if it were generally practised would no doubt, with early sowing, prove nearly, if not entirely successful. An experiment, which ought to be repeated in several localities this fall, was made last year by an intelligent gentleman in one of the Western States. We cut out his statement for insertion in this number, but it has been unfortunately mislaid. The experiment, however, was as follows:—He made two square boxes of wood, of equal size, and placed them in his wheat stubble. Under one, the ground was spaded and inverted to the ordinary depth; the other was placed on the stubble, undisturbed. Both were covered with mulinet (a kind of gauze), which allowed heat and moisture to penetrate, but prevented the fly from escaping. He kept a close watch during June and July, and found that the fly or midge appeared in the unspaded box from two to three weeks early than in the other. This proved that turning the larvæ under ground in the fall, retarded the appearance of the fly, and, combined with early sowing, shows the wheat-grower a method by which he can "get ahead" of his dreaded enemy. We may revert to this subject in our next number. Its importance no one will deny. To the farmers of Canada, it is almost a question of life or death. A Committee of the N. York State Legislature, reported that they had "full proof that a single insect (the midge) last summer (1855) destroyed property to an amount exceeding FIFTEEN MILLIONS OF DOLLARS," in the State of New York alone."

General Summary.

To Correspondents.—J. A., Lemonville, all right. J. G. F.,—The paper did not come to hand last week: the other matter will be attended to forthwith. T. G., Holland Landing; attended to.

☞ The Quebec Mercury states that His Excellency has received instructions from the Imperial Government, to fix the Capital of Canada at Quebec. Will the Legislature allow him to do this?

☞ A public Dinner will be given to George Brown Esq., M. P. P. for Lambton, on Wednesday, the 17th of September next, at Bradford, in the South Riding of Simcoe, at 10 o'clock p. m. Notwithstanding the efforts to kill this affair put fourth by the Barrie Herald, as near as we can learn the demonstration will be a decidedly favorable one to Mr. Brown.

☞ From all the information we can gather from the Queen's District, Mr. Simpson of Bowmanville, appears to be the favorite candidate, who will no doubt be returned. Mr Simpson is spoken of as an energetic business man, and one pretty generally acquainted with the affairs and politics of the country.

There are now five Candidates in the field for the Representation of Saugeen District in the Upper House, viz. Messrs. McMurrich, Beaty and McNab, in the Reform and Coalition interest, and Messrs. Patton and Duggan on the Conservative Ticket. From reading the various Reports published one would imagine they were all the men for Galway: how the votes will tell remains to be seen.

☞ A Public Meeting will be held in the Town Hall, Sharon, East Gwillimbury, on Thursday, 4th of September next, to take into consideration the propriety of petitioning His Excellency the Governor General, to Dissolve the present House of Assembly, and to issue Writs for a new election as soon as practicable. It is called by the Reeve, H. D. Stiles, Esq., on the request of a Requisition, and takes place at 2 o'clock, p. m.

☞ Last week, when speaking of the proposed Gravel Road along the Town Line, we suggested the propriety of holding a public meeting to take the subject into consideration. We now have great pleasure in announcing that a Public Meeting will be held in the Court House, Newmarket, on Tuesday, the 9th day of September next, at the hour of 2 o'clock p. m., for the above purpose. A full attendance of all interested is particularly requested. It would afford considerable encouragement, to meet the friends residing in West Gwillimbury, King and Tecumseth, who will be benefited by having the road constructed. Let a feeling of unanimity prevail, and all join heartily in the project, and the work will be accomplished—the community be benefited, and property along the line considerably advanced in value. Remember the time and place.

Public Meeting at Kettleby!

King Township Unanimous!

A large, interesting, influential and decisive public meeting was held at the Village of Kettleby, in the Township of King, called by the Reeve, Geo. Hughes, Esq., at the request of a numerously signed Requisition, to condemn the present Administration and petition His Excellency to dissolve Parliament and issue writs for a new election. The Meeting was held in the New Temperance Hall, now in course of completion and was composed of leading, influential men, to the number of between one and two hundred. Want of a more lengthened and general notice, together with the inclemency of the weather, no doubt kept many away who would have been only too glad to unite with their neighbors in condemning the Government of the day.

The meeting organized by calling the Reeve to the Chair, and appointing Mr. David Halliday secretary.

The Chairman said the Requisition pointed out for what purpose the meeting had been called. There were those present who were prepared to submit resolutions, no doubt, showing why they condemned the present Government. He would, therefore, not take up the time, by any remarks he might feel disposed to offer under other circumstances.

Dr. Bull rose to propose the first resolution, which read as follows:—

Resolved,—"That this meeting is of opinion that the policy pursued by the present Administration and sustained by a majority of the present House of Assembly is not in accordance with the well known wishes and convictions of the people of Upper Canada in having opposed the just claim of Representation by Population; and continuing the obnoxious Separate Schools System, and the granting of large sums of money to Theological Colleges and sectarian seminaries."

In moving this resolution for adoption he would not occupy much of the time of the meeting; and as it had only been placed in his hand a few moments, he was not prepared to give them a set speech. He might however state, in the outset, that he was pleased to see so many present on this occasion. It showed there was an interest in the good government of the country, and that the people were alive to its welfare. The resolution stated that the Administration were not governing according to the well understood wishes of the people: this fact few would deny. We hear of men of all shades of politics and of every class in society, —uniting in condemning them. The people generally object to their policy. He, (Dr. Bull.) did not like to take up the time of the meeting by entering into details,—neither would he; but he considered there was but little difference between the late Coalition and the present Government. The disreputable manner in which they removed Sir Allan McNab and took in Mr. Van Koughnet and the changing of Ross for Morrison, rendered them if possible even more detestable. A large meeting had recently been held in Toronto for a like purpose that they had met today; then in Hamilton; Peterboro' followed, —and all strongly condemned the Government. Other places were on the move; and no doubt these meetings would have a powerful influence in inducing His Excellency to dissolve the present Parliament. The whole Press, with but few exceptions, had denounced them. But in order to prove more clearly the necessity for another election, he had only to cite the meeting to the circumstances under which the existing Parliamentary Representatives were elected. All present were well aware that the election was held in the most busy season of the year—men had to be selected in great haste, and therefore the present House could not be considered a fair representation of the people. Again, since the last election the new Franchise Act had come into operation. This would give a number more votes in every constituency, who heretofore have had no voice. Then, the present Government were opposed to Representation according to Population—a principle held to be just by a large majority of the people of Upper Canada. A motion acknowledging this principle was introduced last session, he believed, by Mr. Brown—(Mr. Hartman was present and could correct him if wrong). We outnumber the Lower Province by a large majority—some say 25,000; yet, they have the same number of Representatives. This being the case many measures are forced upon Upper Canada, contrary to the feelings of the people, by Lower Canada votes. This is a great injustice to this part of the Province. It was then moved that a new census be taken in order to show clearly the excess of population; this was also lost—and Upper Canada remains in the same relation to day she did previous to the last election. And while we contribute three-fourths of the revenue, the Lower Province receives more than equal proportion. All the legislation of the past six years has been more or less influenced by Lower Canada votes; and the Governments of the day, in order to obtain the assistance of the Lower Province Representatives, have sacrificed our interests and succumbed to influences from below. The resolution he held in his hand also referred to grants to sectarian education. This meeting were all pretty generally acquainted with the history of Separate Schools. A Bill was introduced Session before last to make greater provisions for Separate Schools,—and it was only necessary to state it was drafted by the Bishops of Kingston and Toronto, to give this meeting an insight into its character. The Opposition took a bold and decided stand against this measure, and were instrumental in striking out many of its most objectionable clauses; but notwithstanding this, it still contains many bad features. The friends of Separate Schools in Upper Canada say they only ask the same privileges as those given to Protestants in Lower Canada. The matter was widely different. The dogmas of the Church of Rome were taught in their national schools while ours were entirely unsectarian: Children of any denomination can attend without any scruples of conscience—being divested of all sectarianism. But in Lower Canada, Protestants had either to allow their children to be taught there dogmas or obtain Separate Schools. He therefore considered the matter widely different. With regard to granting sums of money to Sectarian and Theological Institutions, the prodigality in which the present government had doled out the public funds was beyond all precedent—it was beyond everything ever before witnessed in Canada. The resolution having only been placed in his hands a few moments before he rose, he was not prepared to furnish figures correctly; but of this fact he was satisfied, that no former Administration had been so prodigal. He had no doubt if the people of Upper Canada made one united effort, an unanimous request, the men now controlling the affairs of the country would be hurled from power, and better men called upon to take their places. (Cheers.) He had great satisfaction in moving the adoption of the resolution.

Mr. Elisha Allan said he had much pleasure in seconding the resolution so ably moved by Dr. Bull.

The resolution was then put to the meeting and carried unanimously.

John D. Philips, Esq., said he rose to move the second resolution, which read as follows:—

Resolved.—That we believe the Grand Trunk Railway was a speculation to enrich a few at the expense of many; that the late Legislation on that subject in giving up the first lien on the road and extending the line to unpopulated and unprofitable parts of Lower Canada (and to complete the misgovernment) granting four millions acres of Upper Canada land for Lower Canadian Railroad speculation is alike impolitic and unjust.

Mr. Philips said he did not know that it was within his province to attempt a political speech. He thought there were but few present who were not well acquainted with the history of the Grand Trunk Railway. Many of the opposition in the House of Assembly opposed the late legislative scheming of its friends, with all the powers they possessed,—but to no purpose. By some, it had been termed a factious opposition; but he would have been pleased, had that faction been stronger. They chisselled as far as possible under their first charter; they then sought additional chances, and the government of the day granted them, by giving up the first lien upon the road—the only security possessed by the Province. Shortly after we find an appropriation of a very large tract of land belonging to Upper Canada to build Lower Canada Railroads. This last act, was the crowning point,—and he thought they were going a little to far. (Hear hear.) He cordially the moved foregoing resolution. (Applause.) A. Eastwood, Esq., of Lloydtown, seconded the resolution,—and it was put to the meeting and carried unanimously, amid applause.

Mr. Geo. Pearson rose to move the third resolution, as follows:—

Resolved.—That we give our hearty and decided approval to those Honorable Legislative Councillors who voted against the fifty thousand pound item in the Bill of supply for the erection of Parliament Buildings at Quebec, a very small part of the Population of Canada being below that City; and we also give our approval and tender our thanks to those members of Parliament who so laudably opposed the present corrupt Administration through the former and late session of Parliament.

Mr. Pearson said the resolution had only been placed in his hands a few minutes, and he was therefore quite unprepared to offer any remarks. It however spoke for itself, and he was satisfied the meeting would heartily support it.

Dr. Mahaffey said he felt great pleasure in seconding the resolution,—inasmuch as he decidedly agreed with those who opposed the resolution which proposed laying out a large sum of money for Parliament Building at Quebec. All present knew, no doubt, the agreement which brought the Parliament to Toronto, and he thought the House ought to respect that agreement. Independent of this consideration the people of that part of the country were not as energetic, numerous or industrious as of the West, and the extremely eastern situation Quebec, rendered it alike impracticable and unjust towards this section of the country to have the Parliaments fixed to be held in that locality. He felt much pleasure in seconding the resolution.

The Chairman then put the resolution to the meeting and declared it unanimously carried.

Mr. Thos Watson proposed the fourth resolution; it read as follows:

Resolved—That we pledge ourselves not to support any candidate for our suffrages to represent us in Parliament but who will identify himself with and vote in accordance with the well known wishes of his constituents, advocating Representation based on population, repeal of such clauses of the School act favouring Separate Schools, opposing all money grants for sectarian purposes and encouraging immigration by a liberal disposal of the Public lands, exclusive of favouriteism, national colonization, and the encouragement of speculators.

He begged the liberty to move this resolution; and being a man of few words had nothing to offer. The resolution would speak for itself.

The resolution was seconded by Mr. G. Harman and carried unanimously.

Mr. Gersham Proctor moved the following resolution;

Resolved.—That the unwarrantable and untruthful accusations made by the Honorable J. A. McDonald against George Brown Esq. the member for Lambton gives cause of contempt for the calumniator, which, as it lowers him, tends to raise his injured Brother Member more in the estimation of the public—and the chicanery exhibited in removing the Honorable Sir Allan N. McNab from his place in the Executive for political purposes and placing one in his room not representing any constituency we consider not in conformity with responsible Government, which with many other despicable acts warrants this meeting in denouncing the present Administration as no longer worthy of the confidence of the people.

Mr. R. Boyd said, happening to be a great admirer of the gentleman referred to, he begged to second the resolution. He merely rose to show what side he was on; and had he been in the habit of making political speeches he certainly thought the subject a good one. The feeling of the country, from East to West, was one of bitter indignation against a man who could wantonly injure another, for the sake of a little longer lease of power. We find here a faithful member of the Opposition, exposing the corruption and chicanery of a few needy politicians, maligned and insulted because he manfully performed his duty towards his constituents. He (Mr. Boyd) looked upon Mr. Brown as one of the most useful members in the House. Of course, some had said he was not to be trusted; but if we can judge of the man by past precedents, he seems destined to become an useful member of the Assembly, and useful to the country. He would not attempt to make a speech or occupy the time of the meeting by many words; but when so favorable an opportunity offered, he could not help bearing his testimony. And who could help denouncing such a government as the present! No matter what we ask—no matter what are the demands of the country, they seem determined on doing nothing but what will enrich themselves and benefit the Grand Trunk. We want men who feel an interest in the country,—and who will represent us and not themselves—we want men who will fearlessly and honestly stand up and defend us and our rights and privileges. He believed the Opposition had done this during the late Session. He heartily concurred in the sentiments expressed by the resolution, and believed that at the next election the people's voice will show that corruption shall be swept from high places. (Cheers.)

The resolution was then unanimously adopted by the meeting.

T. W. Tyson, Esq., moved the next resolution which read as follows:—

Resolved—that a Petition be presented to his Excellency the Governor General praying that he would at as early a day as possible dissolve the present House of Assembly and issue writs for a new election, that the following Petition be adopted and the Chairman sign it on behalf of the meeting to be by him forwarded to his Excellency.

(The petition referred to in the forgoing resolution, prayed for a new election immediately.)

Mr. Tyson said in offering this resolution he thought it unnecessary to make many remarks. If the people do not let their rulers know their feelings, how can they be expected to act? It seemed unfortunate that for the sake of office, the Upper Canada portion of the Government were prepared to submit to anything and everything their Lower Canada colleagues proposed. If the present Administration were allowed much longer to control the destinies of the Province, it would take a large percentage of all the farmer could produce to pay his taxes. At all events, we could not get a worse one. (Hear, hear.) He believed the Sectarian principle introduced into our Common School system was calculated to spread discord and disunion throughout the country. Education should be insectarian: every tub should stand upon its own bottom. He was always glad to see strong opposition in the House, whoever might be in power,—it had a tendency to do good; but he was sorry that the Opposition in the present House were not strong enough to correct abuses. We might differ with regard to men,—but he felt we should be united on principle. He moved the resolution he had read to the meeting with great pleasure.

Mr. Thos. Hall seconded the resolution, which was then put to the meeting and carried unanimously.

The Chairman then said he had been requested to call on Mr. Hartman, who was present, to offer any remarks he might feel disposed to make,—and invited him upon the Platform.

Joseph Hartman, Esq., M. P. P., then rose and said he had not come to the meeting with any intention of speaking,—but to see and hear. If the meeting desired him to occupy a few moments he would offer a few remarks. (Cries of "go on," "hear, hear.") Mr. Hartman continued.—It afforded him considerable satisfaction to witness so unanimous an approval of the course he had followed, by this part of the constituency he had the honor to represent in Parliament. As a member of the Opposition the meeting had lauded, he thanked them for the feelings they manifested towards them. That the Government of the day were the worst that ever held the reins of power, but few will deny; and from East to West, and North to South, their course and policy had been condemned. Although he was but a young politician, yet he had never heard of a government being so unanimously condemned, by parties professing all shades of politics, as the present. What few public men among their supporters could be found were persons possessing no very large amount of intelligence, or any great degree of forethought. Since their ignominious defeat at Toronto, they have not attempted to face meetings like the present, but have sought to counteract the influence through the Press. —and now argue that it is unconstitutional to petition the Governor General to dissolve the House, and not his Advisers: and that should he do so, it would abrogate Responsible Government. Happily for this country, the people are a reading and thinking people, and can see through the manouvre. The Administration, so far as Upper Canada is concerned, had been repeatedly condemned, even by the present House. On the Separate School question a clear majority of six were against them; yet they took no farther notice than to say it was only an accidental defeat. From the time of the discreditable manner in which the Government of Canada ousted Sir Allan McNab, and took in his place a man more suited to their taste, down to the close of the Session, scarcely a day passed but there was to be found an Upper Canada Majority against them on some question or other. For his (Mr. H's.) own part, he could not feel comfortable, was he satisfied that he was acting contrary to the wishes of his constituents. At the present time the whole country was asking for an election, and he thought they should have it. He would not take up the time of the meeting by any further remarks,—in fact there was little necessity, as the Press kept them posted up on every new thing that developed itself. He would just repeat his great satisfaction at witnessing the unanimity manifested to-day, and tender his thanks on behalf of the Opposition. (Applause.)

A vote of thanks having been tendered to the Chairman for the able, efficient and impartial manner in which he had discharged his duties, the meeting broke up.

We cannot conclude this report without remarking that the Township was pretty fairly Represented,—and by referring to the names of the movers and seconders of the Resolutions, it will be seen they reside in different localities in the Municipality. The meeting was a perfect triumph, and showed unanimously how things will go at another election. Haste, happy day.

Opening of an Orange Lodge in Newmarket.

By special invitation we attended the Supper given at the Opening of an Grange Lodge in this place, on the 20th inst., at the Eagle Hotel,—which was served in good style. Mr. James Evans, of Holland Landing, occupied the chair, supported by Mr. Hy. Croxon; and Mr. McClure, the Vice. The Cloth being removed, and the usual loyal toasts being given,—

The Chairman rose to propose a toast he felt satisfied would be heartily responded to by the guests present. He would give them "The Brethern and Masters of the newly Initiated Lodge."—Drank with all the honors.

Mr. McClure, on behalf of the Lodge, rose to reply. He little expected to have heard the toast so ably proposed and so heartily responded to by this assembly. He must say, he could not find language to express his thanks for the kind manner it had been drank; and would just observe here, that having travelled far and wide, he never found the spirit of Orangeism otherwise than friendly—he found he could trust his life to them. Having been initiated some 14 years, he found them men he could live and die by. They were ever true to each other and true to principle; and as a body, the most united of any organization now in existence. There was a mistaken notion abroad in regard to the order which he desired to correct here. Many suppose that by joining the institution they must follow the dictation of some ruling leader, with regard to politics: this was not so. He had been a member for 14 years, and had never heard politics mentioned in the Lodge Room. Another erroneous impression prevails, that orangemen are bound to assist each other, whether right or wrong. They were not bound to any thing of the kind. True orangeism did not consist in damning the Pope, or the use of any other language calculated to stire up strife; but in proving loyal to our Queen and country, and seeking to establish good government—ever revering the name, and principles taught by the man of "glorious, pious and immortal memory." The speaker again returned thanks for the manner in which the company had responded to the toast, and sat down amid applause.

The Chairman next gave—The Grand Master and Orangemen of Upper Canada.—Drank with all the honors.

The Vice-Chairman being called upon, gave "Success to the principles taught by one of Glorious, Pious and Immortal memory."—Cheers.

Mr. Playter, of Holland Landing, proposed the health of the County of York Master.—As an Orangeman, he (Mr. P.) had received considerable instruction and had much profitted by the assistance of that gentleman,—always kind and ever ready to come to the rescue in case of difficulty. He had very great pleasure in proposing the health of the County Master—Drank with all the honors.

Mr. Mc Clure replied, by saying it was unnecessary for him to trespass upon their time by a lengethened reply. He considered his position something like the fable in Æsop's catalogue, relating to two slaves—one a very big one the other as much smaller in proportion. He was proud to say that he could find young orangemen quite capable of instructing him in this County: some, had got altogether ahead of their Teacher. He felt that the toast had been drank out of pure respect for his welfare;—and while he thanked them for their kindly feeling towards him, he begged to assure them, that whenever in his power, he would give the Orange wheel a shove.—The speaker then reverted to days past and gone, when the principles of Protestantism dare not be openly avowed, and contrasted those times with the present—when we are enable to worship God according to the dictates of conscience under our own vine and fig tree, none daring to molest. Of all people he considered us the most blessed.—Cheers.

The Vice-Chairman gave in a very happy manner, the health of the Chairman, Mr. Jas. Evens,—Drunk with all the honors.

The Chairman replied by thanking the company for the great respect paid him. He was anxious to do all in his power to promote the welfare of the Institution with which he was identified. He said he was a man of but few words; but they new his feelings.—Cheers.

The Chairman next gave—The Press, coupled with the name of Mr. E. Jackson.—Duly honored.

Mr. Jackson replied by thanking the company for the cordial manner they had responded to the toast. Having met them as it were by chance, he was quiet unprepared to make a speech. He would however observe that he looked upon the Press as the great means of bringing about the present social relationship existing among and between all classes. Although not a member of the order of Orangemen, he considered himself a loyal and true subject, and would use his endeavors to disseminate broad Protestant principles.

Mr. Croxon gave the next toast—and one, he said, which never ought to be forgotten.—He would give them—Ogle R. Gowan, Esq., Past Grand Master.—Cheers.

Mr. J. Maguire said he had a toast to propose which he believed would be heartily responded to—it was the Ladies of Newmarket and vicinity.

Mr. Playter replied.

One or two other toasts were proposed and responded to and the company separated,—all apparently highly gratified with the evening's entertainment. There were between forty and fifty present on the occasion.

Great Public Anti-ministerial Meeting in Bowmanville.

On Thursday last, the Reeve called a Public meeting by requisition, which came off on Friday night in the Town Hall, at which between 300 and 400 of the inhabitants of the village came forward, to testify against the corruption of the present Ministry, when the Reeve took the chair and the Rev. J. Climie was appointed Secretary; after which, the following resolutions were spoken to, by the following gentlemen, and in the following order;

"Whereas, the course of the present Ministry and House of Assembly, has been such as to convince this meeting that the interests of the Province, in a financial, political and educational point of view, are in great jeopardy so long as the present rulers remain in power. Wherefore Resolved; since all other legitimate means have failed to deliver us from the ruinous misrule of the Tache McDonald compact, that an address be immediately prepared and forwarded to the Governor General, calling on Him to dissolve the present House of Assembly, and issue writs for a new election."—Moved by Mr. Rollo, M. A., Seconded by Dr. Allison, and supported by Dr. Low, and Carried.

Resolved.—"That a Committee, consisting of Dr. Allison, Rev. J. Climie, J. Burke, J. E. McMillian, P. Coleman, W. McMurtry and John Reed, Esqs., be appointed to prepare an address in accordance with the previous Resolution, signed by the Reeve on behalf of this Meeting, and forward it immediately, to His Excellency."—Moved by P. Coleman, Seconded by J. Reed and supported by J. E. McMillan.—Statesman.

Legislative Council Bill.—In speaking of this Bill, the Leader of Monday says:—

"If our law-givers had listened to the teachings of history, they would not have committed the error of restricting the people's choice of Legislative Councillors to residents or to persons who possess, in the constituency, property to the value of £2,000. In order to find examples of this species of restriction, it was necessary to go back to the infancy of representative government; but if the instances had been well scanned, it would have been seen that, in every case, there was failure, that the laws imposing the restrictions were systematically evaded and allowed to fall into disquietude; being finally repealed when they were of sufficient importance to attract attention. They belonged to a rude age: and as enlightenment advanced they began to be disregarded. The Legislature of Canada in reviving these forgotten restrictions showed a supreme contempt for the lessons of history; but time will prove their error. If, in these days, laws of this character cannot be openly disregarded, they can and will be secretly evaded. Hence their impolicy—an impolicy the non-discovery of which argues an excess of obtuseness."

In compliance with the proclamation of the President, both Houses of Congress reassembled on the 21st inst., to take up the consideration of the grant for the maintenance of the army. The New York Herald says, "The House, without unnecessary delay went into Committee on the Whole, and reported the Army bill as it stood at the breaking up of the regular session, Kansas proviso included, and it subsequently passed the House by a vote of ninety-three against eighty-five. Thus the question stands as before. The two houses have come to a dead lock! and if the programme detailed by our Washington correspondent is adhered to, they are likely to remain in this position for some time. It seems to be generally understood that no business but the Army bill will be brought up at the present session.

Cotton the Contractor.—If there is a class above all others that I would keep out of the Legislature that class is the Contractors. I never yet met one of them who did not seek a seat to serve his own ends, or who was not ready to log-roll, wink at knavery, and unite with the band who gull the million for plunder. Cotton gets an enormous amount of money from the Province. I wish I had his accounts to overhaul. He has announced in the Brampton Times his intention to contest Peel, but I think the voters will stand firmly by Mr. Aikens, as he has done by them in the Assembly—and leave all such as George Wright and James Cotton at home. Those who remember Cotton's evidence in the £10,000 case of Bowes and Hincks will wonder at the assurance that could induce him even to think of Peel.—Message.

On Monday we give a short Telegraphic despatch of a terrific storm in New Orleans, attending by a fearful loss of life. The most disastrous effects, were felt at a summer resort, called Last Island a short distance above New Orleans, which is represented to have had every house swept from it, and to have been completely inundated. At the present time, two hundred and fifty people, at least, are known to have lost there lives. The damage to the sugar, cotton and corn crops, is said to be almost incalculable. The banks of the river at Bayou Sara had caved in, carrying away three hundred residences. The dead bodies at Last Island were plundered of money and valuables by a set of pirates who inhabit it. From all parts of that country, accounts continue to be received of the dreadful damage that has been done.—Colonist, 20th Aug.

Arrival of the Niagara.

Halifax, 25th Aug. 1856.

The Niagara arrived at 9 o'clock this evening with Liverpool dates to the 15th. The Persia arrived out on the evening of the 15th, after a passage of 9 days 5 hours.

News unimportant.

The screw steamship Canadian, from Quebec, arrived at Liverpool on the 14th inst.

A lamentable accident occurred on board the Canadian on the homeward passage. The Rev. W. Marsh drank, a quantity of disenfecting fluid, and notwithstanding every care, it proved fatal. His body was taken to Liverpool and an inquest was held upon it.

The steamship Hermann sailed from Southampton for New York on the 13th inst.; and the City of Manchester left Liverpool for Philadelphia on the same day with 180 passengers.

General de L'Marmora has, in the name of the King of Sardinia, invited General Cantrobert, who is at the Sardinian watering place, to visit Turin.

According to Italian correspondence, the Neapolitan army is greatly dissatisfied with the Government.

The concession made by the Russian Government, professedly to facilitate the imports of foreign goods, amount to very little, and relate to such matters as abridging the time allowed between the delivering in of contract and the deposit of the goods in the bonding warehouses of St Petersburg.

GREAT BRITAIN.

In every part of the United Kingdom, the harvest reports are of a very favorable character, and but little doubt is entertained that the grain crops will be at least a fair average in quantity and quality. In Scotland the crops are very heavy. The late rains have been very beneficial to green crops. Harvest operations are now general and so much labor is wanted that farmers have outbid railroad contractors.

In the political world there is nothing worth reporting.

Marshall Pelessier's title is the Duke of the Malakoff, with a pension of 100,000 francs per annum.

SPAIN.

The news from Spain is wholly uninteresting. We have a report of the Gazette de France, but which requires confirmation, the disturbances had arisen at Candiz on disarming the National Guard, but with this exception the general disarming is everywhere being carried out without resistance.

ITALY.

A report was circulated on the Paris Bourse, that there had been an attempt at insurrection in Naples. It was not however true, and from the precautions taken to suppress any attempt at rising it is unlikely.

The steamship Gladiator from the Island of Serpents' to Constantinople has reported on the Island, 50 Turkish and 8 Russian soldiers. There was no armed occupation of the Island as was reported

The London Times of Friday evening says, the English funds continue to show a total absence of fluctuation. The demand for money in the Stock Exchange was rendered more active by the foreign stock or share settlement. Out of doors and at the Bank of England there was likewise and increased enquiry for foreign Exchange without change in rate.

The Journal of Vienna states, that as soon as the Austrain Cabinet was informed of the indisposition of Russia to restore Kars and the occupation of the coast of Serpents' Isle, it had addressed an energetic remonstrance to the Cabinet of St. Petersburg. The right of the Porte to Serpent's Isle was recognised.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

Liverpool Cotton Market—The brokers' circular report market unchanged, and demand limited—sales of the week amounted to 37,000 bales—Market dull at close.

LONDON MONEY MARKET.

Baring Brothers report market rather lighter. Consols closed on Friday evening at 95¼ a 95¼.

LIVERPOOL MARKETS.

Breadstuffs.—The advance on wheat over prices advised per Africa, is called 2d per bushel, chiefly on the better grades—5d a 6d on corn. The supplies being small, flour was unchanged, and in moderate request.—Richardson, Spence & Co.'s quotations are—Ohio flour, 33s a 34s; Philadelphia and Baltimore, 30s a 32; Western Canal, 29s a 31; Canadian, 32s a 35s; sour, 25s a 30s; red wheat 8s 2d a 9s 6d; white, 9s 6d a 10s 6d. Inferior samples unsaleable; New Orleans white corn, 30s a 31s 6d; mixed and yellow, 30s a 31s.

Provisions.—Pork dull; 1000 barrels sold for London at 57s 6d. Sard—small business, and closing at 60s a 70s.

LONDON MARKETS.

Baring Brothers report white wheat 63s a 66. Flour 30s a 36.

Special Notices

Holloway's Pills.—Rush of blood to the head is often primarily caused by a bad condition of the stomach and bowels. Invigorate the stomach, regulate the excretions, and purify the fluids with this world-renowned medicine, and you will be exempt from vertigo, dimness of sight, headache, and other alarming apoplectic symptoms which frequently accompany dyspepsia and habitual constipation. The impurity of the blood, as well as an excess of it in the brain, has much to do with cerebral affections, and as Holloway's Pills operate upon the chemical agents which generate that fluid, as well as upon the circulation itself, they are infallible in this class of maladies.

"Family Guardians" is a little well merited by Dr. Jas. McClintock's Diarrhea Cordial, and Whooping Cough Remedy. Each dreadful disease is met by a separate and scientific remedy, which is indicated by the name it bears. Diarrhea, Dysentery, Cholera Morbus and Bowel Complaints, and Whooping Cough, Croup, and Asthma, are immediately relieved and speedily cured by these valuable antidotes. Sold by

DONALD SUTHERLAND.

Among the Scientific Productions of Dr. Jas. McClintock are his Dyspeptic Elixir for Dyspepsia loss of Appetite, and Indigestion, and his Alterative Syrup, for Purifying the Whole System and Building up the Constitution. The immense experience of their author, as Professer, Lecturer, Physician to the City Hospitals and Prisons, and late founder of Philadelphia College of Medicine, entitle them to the esteem, and confidence of the public at large. Sold by

DONALD SUTHERLAND.

Important to All.—Health is undoubtedly the greatest temporal blessing. Without it, the wealth of the Indies would be insufficient to afford an hour's fleeting enjoyment, while the possesion of it makes the most humble cottage the abode of contentment and comfort. Yet, while all are ready to admit of this great truth, how many too often disregard its possesion, till no longer theirs to enjoy. All who are suffering from indisposition, should at once try Sir Astley Cooper's Mild Aperient Anti-Billious Pills, warranted free from Mercurial, Antimonial, or other Mineral substances, which have for nearly half a century been admitted the best family medicine, renovating and invigorating the system, a fine stomachic, and a mild yet efficient aperient, purifying the blood, and striking at the root of disease.

They have been amply tested in the most distressing of nervous affections, and thousands who have been afflicted in every possible way are daily bearing their grateful testimony to the great benefits they have received from their use, and are now rejoicing in a renewed state of health, after having long despaired of ever possessing it again.

Beware of Counterfeits.—It frequently occurs, that Druggists impose on their customers a spurious compound called Sir Astley Cooper's Pills, generally put up in red or pink wrapper, and labeled, prepared, or, as prepared at Apothecaries Hall, London, when the fact is, they are prepared by themselves. Beware of such spurious compounds as you would of poison The Genuine Pills have the likeness of Sir Astley Cooper on the top of each box; also the fac-simile of the signature of the Proprietors, MacPhail & Co. on the directions with each box. There is a considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.

☞ For sale by Simpson & Dunspaugh, Druggist, Toronto; E. W. Palmer, Kingston; J. M. Thornton, Dundas, general Agents,—by whom Country Druggists & Merchants will be supplied at London and New York Prices.

Died,

At Sharon, on the 15th inst., Martha Elizabeth, daughter of C. B. and Martha Srigley, aged 3 months and 3 days.

"In memorium."

"Death chooses age, the fairest flowers,"
"But stay, insatiate, stay;"
When visiting our earthly bowers,
Can naught the thirst allay.
Have those so lov'd, so prized, adored,
The fairest gems in memory stored,—
They call them first away.

Yet for the best, why should we mourn?
Tho' they may never more return,
"The mother and her babe:"
Would'st thou recall them from their bliss,
To such a darksome world as this—
No! calmly, sweetly let them rest,
"God doeth all things for the best."

Patent Lifting Pump

THE Subscribers have pleasure in announcing that they are now prepared to receive orders for the Manufacture and erection of their new

PATENT LIFTING PUMP,

Invented by Mr. John Dennie—one of the firm, and allowed by competent Judges to be the most superior kind of Pump now in use. From the nature and simplicity of its construction, by the aid of the

SPRING PISTON,

Iron valve and Iam-Nut Joints—working in an Iron cylinder, the water, instead of being sucked up as in most kinds, is lifted from the bottom—and with great ease—thus avoiding friction and thereby rendering it almost impossible to get out of repair. The lever works in a cast Iron form bolted to the platform covering the well and to the pump—These pumps have been tried in wells to the depth of from fifty to seventy feet, with admirable success—and satisfactory references can be given.

Warranty to extend for Three Years.

The subscribers are also manufacturing an excellent

WOODEN PUMP,

Adapted to Wells Forty feet deep, or less, to which they would call attention. Upwards of 400 of these Pumps have been sold in this Section of country during the past summer. References of a satisfactory character can be given, to any person calling at their Manufactory, Newmarket.

All orders for either of the above Pumps, addressed [post-paid] to the Newmarket Post-Office, will receive prompt attention.

HEALTH OR SICKNESS!

CHOOSE BETWEEN THEM.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS!

The blood furnishes the material of every tone, muscle, gland and fibre in the human frame.—When pure, it secures health to every organ, when corrupt, it necessarily produces disease. HOLLOWAY'S PILLS operate directly upon the elements of the stream of life, neutralizing the principle of disease, and thus radically curing the malady, whether located in the nerves, the stomach, the liver, the bowels, the muscles, the skin, the brain, or any part of the system.

USED THROUGHOUT THE WORLD!

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS are equally efficacious in complaints common to the whole human races and in disorders peculiar to certain climates and localities.

Alarming Disorders.

Dyspepsia, and derangement of the liver, the source of infirmity and suffering, and the cause of innumerable deaths, yield to these curatives, in all cases, however aggravated, acting as a mild purgative, alterative and tonic: they relieve the bowels, purify the fluids, and invigorate the system and the constitution at the same time

General Weakness-Nervous Complaints

When all stimulants fail, the renovating and bracing properties of these Pills give firmness to the shaking nerves and enfeebled muscles of the victim of general debility.

DELICATE FEMALES.

All irregularities and ailments incident to the delicate and sensitive organs of the sex are removed or prevented by a few doses of these mild, but infallible alteratives. No mother who regards her own or her children's health should fail to have them within her reach.

SCIENTIFIC ENDORSEMENTS.

The London "Lancet," the London "Medical Review," and the most eminent of the faculty in Great Britain, France and Germany, have eulogized the Pills and their inventor.

Holloway's Pills are the best remedy known in the world for the following diseases:

Asthma	Diarrhœa	Indigestion
Bowel Complaints	Dropsy	Influenza
Coughs	Debility	Inflamation
Colds	Fever and Ague	Inward Weakness
Chest Diseases	Female Complaints	Liver Complaints
Costiveness	Headaches	Lowness of Spirits
Dyspepsia	Piles
Stone and Gravel	Secondary Symptoms
Venereal Affections	Worms of all kinds.

 Sold at the Manufactories of Professor HOLLOWAY, 80 Maiden Lane, New York, and 244 Strand London, and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the United States and the civilized world, in boxes, at 25 cents, 62½ cents and $1 each.

☞ There is a considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.

N. B.—Directions for the guidance of patients in every disorder are affixed to each box.

Amusement.

A schoolboy, being asked by the teacher how he would beg him, if he pleased, replied, 'I should like to have it upon the Italian system the heavy strokes upwards, and the down ones light!'

SALES.—'Sam, what fish in de salt water weighs de least?' 'Why, Julius, what ignorance question you ax your colored brethren! Minnies weigh de least, of course.' 'No, no, sah, dat's wrong now; it am de porpus, sah; de porpus weighs nothing—cos, why, he got no scales.'

A mother was showing her dear little Joe a picture of the Martyrs thrown to the lions, and was talking very solemly to him trying to make him feel what a terrible thing it was. 'Ma!' said he, all at once, 'oh, ma! just look at that poor little lion away behind there he won't get any.'

A REAL SOLDIER.—Scene—A friend drops in upon Alfred, who is holding a little pig under his arm, and has two others attached, one to each leg, and all three are squealing.—Friend. 'My good Alfred! What the deuce are you about?' Alfred. (in the Fusilier Guards) 'Why you see, old fellow, we're to have a corps of Scotch bagpipes attached to the regiment.—So I'm trying to accomodate myself to circumstances, and git accustomed to the noise!'

AN IRISHMAN'S IDEA OF AMERICA.—One of the best definitions of an Irishman's idea of America that we ever saw, is contained in the following extract from the 'Fairy Circle,' a tail of John Brougham's 'Irish Echoes:'—

'What did Tracey come from, Corny?' inquires Mary.

'Why, from' Merriky, where else?' he replied, 'that sent us the first pitaty. Long life to it for both, say I.'

'What sort of a place is that, I wonder, Corny?'

'Merriky, is it? They tell me its mighty sizeable, Moll, darlin. I'm told that you might row England through it, an' it would hardly make a dint in the ground. There's fresh water oceans inside of it that you might dhround Ireland in, save Father Mathew a wonderful sight of trouble, an' as for Scotland, you might stick it in a corner of one of their forrests, an you'd never be able to find it out, except, it may be, by the smell of whiskey.—If I had only a trifle of money, I'd go and seek my fortin there.'
